Join Barnet UNISON members and our fantastic Barnet residents in a musical message of solidarity for the NHS.

We can now see what six years of austerity policies has had on the NHS which only recently was described by the Red Cross as a “humanitarian crisis”.

Accident & Emergency Units are being closed down along with many other local hospital services. This time last year junior doctors were taking strike action. Our NHS services are being swallowed up through the privatisation of services and we know what that means, services will be cut to feed profits.

The next big threat to our NHS is the Sustainability and Transformation Plans (STPs) which is consultancy jargon for the wholesale destruction of our NHS.

The NHS needs all of us to stop the destruction of NHS.

We are calling on Barnet residents to join us at the Midland Hotel, 29 Station Road, Hendon, London NW4 4PN on Saturday 25 February 2017 from 7pm to take part in “Sing your Heart out 4 our NHS”, we will have live performances from Barnet UNISON members and some guest appearances.

We will have speakers talking about the NHS.
