

Over 390 Days Lost in Strike Action!

Barnet UNISON Mental Health social workers have withdrawn their labour on each of the strike days which means collectively we are now at over 390 LOST working days to Mental Health services. This equates to more than one year of work of a full-time worker.

Barnet Council prefers this rather than negotiating a settlement. This shows a hostile disregard for staff and for service users as they demonstrate an indifference to getting this service to work.

This sends a clear message to ALL staff about how valued we really are.

Words are easy. Actions speak volumes.

Support our members on strike. When they win, we will all feel uplifted.

Your Choice Barnet – Have Your Say On Pay

Vote Yes to both questions!

The indicative ballot is well underway in Your Choice Barnet where care and support workers work. The bottom rate of pay for these workers (and most of them) is the London Living Wage. Inflation is escalating but in the whole of 2023 these workers had not one pence uplift in pay!

One of the demands will be to have pay backdated to November 2023 when the uplift in the London Living Wage was announced but not implemented. Other demands are about reinstating overtime rates and enhancements for working bank holidays, weekends and nights. After all agency staff are receiving these uplifts.
